TEMPLE CITY HIGH SCHOOL

Foreword

"Joe Student" is a happy sort of fellow. He plays in the band, burns the midnight oil to stay in CSF, goes to dances, yells at all sports events, and participates in countless clubs. He is also that little fellow running madly through your annual.

But "Joe Student" isn't so busy that he doesn't have time to pause for a few moments and note a few changes that have been wrought in TC the past four years.

He sees, first, that we have changed from a junior high to a complete four-year high school.

He notes, too, that along with a change in program came a change in the actual buildings where we absorbed this new program. On our new campus "Joe Student" sees a gym rising from bare ground to make our campus that much more complete.

"Joe Student" realizes that along with physical change came some changes in our high school society.

The student's attitude, with the advent of a complete four-year high school, underwent some changes. He looked around him and realized that no longer were there two junior high grades below him and no longer was he to be guided each step of the way. More responsibility was assumed by the students toward the school itself and its various functions.

As future leaders, along with "Joe Student," we recognize that there is another important part to high school life: the part that requires those seemingly endless hours of homework and the lugging home of those ever-increasing stacks of books. But with the current world emphasis on the academic side of life, we realize the mounting importance of a well-rounded education, including both academic and extra-curricular activities.

In the 1958 Rampage, through cartoons and pictures, we have tried to give you, the reader, a balance between these academic and social functions of our school.

Superintendent of Schools

District Administrators: Garland Peed, assistant business manager; Miss Clarice Manshardt, director of education; Otto Mason, business manager.

School Board Decides

The Board of Education, headed by Howard Beckner, superintendent, with Miss Clarice Manshardt, director of education; Otto Mason, business manager; and Garland Peed, assistant business manager, decides the policies which govern the whole Temple City Unified School District.

The decisions and actions of the board which directly affected Temple City as a new high school were many and varied. The board planned the construction of the gym, the stage for the cafeteria, the grandstand on the south side of the athletic field, and the lights for the field; all were scheduled to be completed by the following school year. Also, the high school underwent a face-lifting as the surrounding grounds were landscaped, and the lawns started. Arranged for also was the completion of the track, the baseball field, the bleachers on the north side of the athletic field, and the swimming pool.

School Board: Thomas Parrington, member; Mrs. Hazel Hillegas, member; Francis Welton, clerk; Mrs. Rosalind Glassco, vice-president; George Weismann, president.

Principal

I'm sure that all students of Temple City High School will take pride in this "all new" Rampage for 1958. Surely it will be a book of memories for each of you.

It is our hope and our expectation that the graduating seniors will find that the years spent at Temple City High School were ones of happy memories and real benefit toward future success.

Those of you who will return have the opportunity to build on what has been accomplished thus far, and to establish tradition and practice marking your high school as one of the best.

A. H. NORTH

Explaining the new off-campus policy is George Yertson, boys' vice-principal.

Miss Laura Shephard, girls' vice-principal, is supervisor of the attendance, changes in program, athletic activities, and the general welfare, employment, and discipline of the girls at TCHS. In this capacity, she establishes conferences between the students, teachers, and parents, and she has initiated the establishment of child guidance clinics.

Many other duties, however, occupy Miss Shephard's time, including work with the nurse on health problems, planning the method of registering new students, and planning the Commencement activities. Some of her other positions include that of adviser to the seniors, official representative of the school to PTA, and official school hostess.

As boys' vice-principal, George Yertson is in charge of all athletic events put on by the boys, and he takes care also of their employment, discipline, attendance, and changes in schedule. He is directly responsible for the accuracy of all the school records, including attendance records, transcripts, and grades. Mr. Yertson has been at our high school for four years and has served as boys' vice-principal for two years.

Both Miss Shephard and Mr. Yertson report that they like their jobs and that they enjoy being able to help the American citizens of tomorrow get a better education.

Bob McAlister and Elmo Bregoli consider the latest college bulletins.

An indispensable part of the high school administration is the counseling staff. They help the students decide on their future vocations when necessary and assist them in planning a course through high school which will best prepare them for their fields. Under the direction of the counselors achievement and aptitude tests are given to the whole school, which help to determine where each student's capabilities lie. Tests are given also to individual classes, when desirable, to help determine which students are ready to take certain advanced courses.

Besides helping with programming, the counselors help the students also with personal problems, pupil-teacher conflicts, and general adjustment problems.

To increase the efficiency of counseling the students, a new plan was initiated this year. A counselor was assigned to each class, but with the counselors of the first three grades rotating each year. A counselor who started out with the freshman class this year would stay with those pupils as their counselor through their junior year. The following year he would start with another freshman class.

The counselors for this year were Miss Laura Shephard, counselor for the senior class; Del Heyne, junior counselor; Bill Smith, sophomore counselor; Bob McAlister, freshman counselor; and Elmo Bregoli, unassigned counselor. All the counselors have been at the high school since it was started, and most of them have been counseling for a number of years.

No school could run smoothly and efficiently without its office secretaries, bus drivers, cafeteria staff, custodians, nurse, and librarian's assistant to do the many necessary tasks which need to be done outside the classroom.

Whenever entering the administration office here at Temple, you are greeted with a friendly smile from Mrs. Mabel Anderson, our office secretary.

Besides typing, answering the telephone, putting out the daily bulletin, and sorting mail, Mrs. Anderson is Mr. North's private secretary, taking letters and doing special typing for him.

She is also in charge of 30 office practice girls and makes out their report cards.

Mrs. Anderson's "unofficial" duties include giving directions, answering questions, and loaning out her straight pins, scissors, and masking tape to students who come to her in search of such supplies.

Mrs. Virginia Chenault, attendance secretary, is faced each morning with a host of student returnees and their excuses. After handing out numerous readmit cards and a cut or two, she sits down to begin her day's work, which keeps her busy the remaining part of the morning and all afternoon.

When the master roll sheet has been typed and placed in the hands of all teachers, Mrs. Chenault begins calling each student who is out, to find the cause of absence.

students who do not live within walking distance of school to arrive here and be taken home safely.

It is the responsibility of the cafeteria staff to prepare lunch for Temple City's 1,000 plus students.

This reliable group is always ready at noon time to meet hungry faces with well-planned lunches.

Custodians, under the supervision of Willis Champion, work long after the school day has ended, cleaning classrooms, so as to make them ready for the following day. They are caretakers also of the baseball and football fields and of the swimming pool.

Mr. Champion is at school early each morning, unlocking locker rooms and turning on lights and furnaces. He orders also all supplies the school needs and is in charge of permits for the use of school facilities by various organizations.

Rendering special services are Miss Elizabeth Weber, nurse, and Mrs. Paula Jones, assistant librarian.

It is Miss Weber who writes gym excuses and cares for cuts and bruises. And it is Mrs. Jones who helps James Newbold, librarian, in checking books in and out, in cataloging books, and in helping students to find that certain book for English.

These, our administrative staff, are the ones who make our school operate as it does—smoothly and efficiently.

The faculty's aims are to prepare the students to be better citizens and help them improve their skills.

The social studies curriculum, which included freshman core, sophomore world history, junior civics, and senior problems, generally prepared the students for life after graduation.

The foreign language department gave students experience with a second language and also acquainted them with a brief history of the country.

To build interest in science as a career was the goal of the science and mathematics department. Science and mathematics courses offered this year were biology, chemistry, physics, basic science, general math, business math, algebra I and II, plane geometry, and trigonometry.

Student Government

Terry Christensen

A. S. B. President

"Will the assembly please come to order."

I am truly grateful for the opportunity I have had to serve you, the student body, this past year. It has been one of the greatest experiences in my life. I want to thank the faculty, the cabinet, and the student body for the cooperation and help I have received this year. As voters, you, the student body, have every right to be proud of those whom you elected to the governing body, for this year they have taken long strides toward making Temple City one of the top schools in the valley. It is my hope that you choose next year's officers very carefully and support them as well as you have this year's and the ones in the past. Remember that it is your duty to take advantage of our democracy, so I would ask you all to take an active part in your school government.

As host school for the Rio Hondo League Forum, the Student Cabinet this year has helped to solve many problems of the league in addition to questions of school government.

Among its numerous activities, the cabinet sponsored the "Welcome Aboard" Dance held on September 20.

In order to have a good student government, the ideas and opinions of all students, and not just a few, are necessary. Operating upon this thesis, the cabinet has given each student the opportunity to express himself through the Student Council, in which each core or history class is represented.

In addition to the elected ASB officers, the cabinet is

Student Council Acts

Student Council is composed of a representative from each social studies class as well as the commissioners and Student Cabinet members. It represents every student in school.

The class representatives receive suggestions for changes that will improve the student body from their social studies classes. In turn, these representatives present these ideas at Student Council meetings.

Through a recommendation from the Student Council to the principal, TCHS obtained open campus privileges during both lunch periods. Student Council is sponsoring the new parking lot to be situated where the corn field is now. Each student will be assigned a parking place for his use, and it will be used for the entire school year. The group sponsored also a clothing drive for overseas use.

Bob McAlister, Student Council adviser, along with Ellen Sisola, council secretary, and George Fuller, council president, plans a council meeting agenda.

Because of action taken by the Student Council in 1957-58, an a la carte line was established in our then brand-new cafeteria.

Award Winners

Alison Heed, Girls' State representative for 1957.

Boys' State representatives in 1957 were Gary Topjon and Terry Christensen.

Main objective of both Boys' and Girls' State is to learn about government by practicing it.

Chosen as Girls' State representative for the year 1957 was Janet Aeby. Because she was moving away and would not be able to use her experience at Girls' State to benefit Temple City, Janet thought it only fair that her alternate, Alison Heed, attend Girls' State in her place.

Alison was selected by the American Legion Auxiliary, Post 279, Temple City, as was Janet, for her outstanding citizenship, better than average grades, and her interest in government and school activities.

The Girls' State Award included a seven-day all-expense trip to Sacramento to learn about the workings of our state government and a stay in the dorms at the University of California at Davis.

Boys' State representatives in 1957 were Gary Topjon and Terry Christensen. Both were chosen on primarily the same basis as candidates for the Girls' State Award. They were selected for their scholastic records, interest in civic affairs, and participation in school activities.

Sponsored by the American Legion, the Rotary Club, and the Kiwanis Club, both boys distinguished themselves at Boys' State. Gary was elected to the highest office at Boys' State, that of governor. He later went to Washington, D.C., where he attended Boys' Nation, a meeting of all the boys in the country who had been elected governor of their respective Boys' State conventions.

This year the Daughters of the American Revolution, with the help of the senior girls and the faculty, picked Priscilla Beech as the recipient of their award.

Priscilla was chosen first by the senior girls out of 10 other nominees. Out of the 10 came six girls, and then the top three were chosen. The faculty then selected Priscilla out of the top three for her citizenship, scholarship, and cooperation with students and teachers.

After Priscilla was chosen, she then studied for a United States history and civics test, which along with her application, was turned into the district chairman of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

If she wins the district contest, she receives a pin and a certificate; then she goes into state competition, where she can win $100. For this she must write an essay. After this comes the national award, which may bring Priscilla a $3,000 scholarship.

Because of early deadlines the results of Priscilla's progress into higher awards were not known.

Gary, Allison, and Terry compare their Boys' and Girls' State experiences.

Members of the senior class and faculty members elected Priscilla Beech the winner of the DAR Award for 1957-58.

Girls' League

Bonnie MacDonald

Karen Anderson
Vice-President

Under the capable and enthusiastic leadership of this year's officers, along with the able assistance of Miss Yvonne Caruthers and Miss Martha Hall as advisers, the Girls' League completed a successful and memorable year.

Sponsored by Girls' League, the freshman girls were welcomed to Temple by the seniors. Through many activities, climaxed by a tea entitled "School Daze," the annual Big and Little Sister Project was a huge success.

Many girls enjoyed a night out with Dad at the Father-Daughter Box Social. Fun, food, and frolic helped make this a night to be long remembered.

The traditional hearts and cupids set the happy mood for the annual Valentine Formal Dance, one of the best dances of the year, co-sponsored by the Girls' League and Boys' League.

A tradition was begun with the establishment of the Junior and Senior Girl-of-the-Month. These Girls' League awards were given on the basis of general school spirit and service. Several deserving girls were awarded this honor.

Scattered among the highlights mentioned were the usual and necessary money-making activities, fashion shows and teas, and a Benefit Show — climaxed by another first — the Girls' League Scholarship Award to the most deserving senior girl.

The cooperation and spirit of the 1957-58 Girls' League were outstanding, making it a year not soon to be forgotten.

The male students, and, in fact, the student body as a whole, benefited from another successful year for the Boys' League. The success of its many events was due mainly to the sponsorship of San Mallicoat and his help from the members of the Boys' League Council.

This council consisted of five officers, of which three were elected, and the other two were appointed by the council of the previous year. The elected officers were: President, Bill Taylor; Vice-President, Dennis Gallagher; and Secretary, Bill Wells. The appointed officers were: Chairman of Finance, Charles Roberti; and Chairman of Entertainment, Mel Vogel.

This year's activities were started off with an interesting assembly presented by the Fisher Body Corporation. Next, in January, a swimming meet was held, in which medals were awarded to the winners of each event. Then the annual Freshman-Sophomore Brawl was quite memorable to several of the participants because of black eyes and bruised arms and legs.

February was the biggest month for the Boys' League. In honor of St. Valentine's Day, the Boys' League cooperated with the Girls' League to put on the annual Valentine's Dance. The latter part of the month, the Boys' League sponsored the Faculty-Student and Varsity-Alumni Basketball games. Another event, initiated just this year, was a Faculty-Varsity Baseball game.

In March, the boys at TCHS were given a chance to prove their fleetness of foot in the annual Pentathlon Contest. This included five track events, in which medals were presented to the first three places of each event.

In May, another Boys' League assembly was presented, and then the Whiskerino Contest came along, the last event of the year. This contest determined who could grow the biggest beard in two weeks. The winner was presented with an electric razor.

Senior Service

Senior Service's Officers: K. Lloyd, secretary-treasurer; G. Topjon, president.

Every Wednesday morning at eight o'clock, a group of about a dozen boys met at Mr. Yertson's office, during the past year. Little has been known about this organization, and for a very good reason. The purpose of Senior Service is to build tradition and serve the student body without recognition.

One of the main ways they did this was by conceiving new ideas which would help the student body. Some of them were carried out by the Senior Service, but most of them were handed over to other organizations and clubs to carry out.

Some of their more apparent duties have been to help at athletic events and to serve as ushers at such functions as the PTA Variety Show, Commencement, and Baccalaureate. Last, but not least, the members unofficially but wholeheartedly helped to promote school spirit.

Senior Service: Back row: T. Mallory, P. Katzmaier, M. Jones, K. Lloyd. Front row: G. Fuller, G. Topjon, M. Vogel, B. Dietrick.

Senior Leaders

We, the class of '58, having finally earned our title as "seniors," look back on our high school years with fond remembrance. Can we ever forget our first day as freshmen, when we all assembled in the gym; or the Sophomore Beach Party, which never has been equaled; and how about our "unofficial" holiday as juniors?

Our class hasn't had very many firsts, but we surely will be the last class in many things: using the Little Theater, Oak Avenue Gym for assemblies and dances, and the old equipment. This year, however, we did get one first: "the ball started rolling" to get a name for our athletic field.

Confronting us now is the unknown; it may bring success and happiness, but whatever comes we shall always remember the wonderful friends we have made. This term brings to a close the times we have shared — the never-before democratic vote of announcements, the overnight snow trip, "Stunt Nite," Junior-Senior Review, Car Wash, Junior-Senior Prom, Senior Activities Week, and last but not least, GRADUATION!

These activities were all planned by the Senior Council, which consisted of officers and class representatives elected in their individual senior problems classes early in the year. They have worked hard, and every matter was thoroughly discussed, every point was taken into consideration, before any decisions were reached.

None of this would have been possible without the assistance of Del Heyne and Miss Laura Shephard, who have so generously given their time "above and beyond the call of duty."

Juniors '59

Perhaps the most active of the four classes, with the exception of the seniors, is the junior class. And with good reason. They are traditionally the sponsors of the Junior-Senior Prom.

This year the junior class, headed by President Dennis Gallagher, sponsored many varied ways of making money for the prom. They included a Junior-Senior Donkey Basketball game on February 5; a booth at the Camellia Festival; and their biggest money-maker—selling programs at all basketball games.

Along with making money for the prom, the juniors participated in many other activities. On March 7 and 8 they proved their talents in the Junior-Senior Review. An annual-signing party and a beach party completed the year's fun.

The high school student body, along with the whole community, enjoyed the Camellia Festival and Carnival, February 21-22-23.

Led by Gary Ball, class president, the sophomores were a very active class.

Things started off with a day in the snow. The snow party was held at Angeles Crest on February 8.

Happy, but weary, the sophomores returned victorious from the Freshman-Sophomore Brawl. Even though they were challenged many times for victory, they came through and proved their worth.

The sophomores were also well represented in sports. Proof of their skill was shown by the trophies they helped win for Temple.

Since they are a lower class, the sophomores are looking forward to the new gym and football field.

The year was brought to a close with an annual-signing and beach party.

Frosh '61

Ron Adamson
President

Freshman class President Ronnie Adamson, along with the other class officers, Beverly Jones, vice-president, and Linda Skelley, secretary-treasurer, were responsible for keeping the freshman class active in campus activities.

One of the major freshman activities was the Freshman-Sophomore Brawl on February 8. The events were the obstacle race, tug of war, tire tug, and pushball.

In the spring a beach party was held. The newest activity sponsored by the freshman class was the get-acquainted dance. The purpose of this dance was to get the future freshmen acquainted with other high school students — the high school itself. It proved to be very helpful and informative to next year's freshmen.

Behind the Mike

Doing a supposed take-off on Mr. North, principal, at the San Marino pep assembly, November 8, is Miss Yvonne Caruthers, English teacher.

"Behind the mike" this year Alice Williams, assembly commisioner, introduced many varied assemblies.

On November 12 the PTA presented a Marine Corps combo, "Dress Blues." Speaker at the traditional Thanksgiving convocation was Charles L. Reilly, Christian Science Committee on Publications for Southern California. The choir, under the direction of Roger Lockie, presented for the Christmas assembly on December 12, "Amahl and the Night Visitors."

Our own Dance Band, "The Tempos," provided entertainment at the Dance Band assembly, January 23. Members of the TCHS student body had a chance to prove their varied talents at the Talent assembly, February 6. Dr. Harold Humbert presented "The Real Abraham Lincoln" on March 20.

Scattered among the more serious assemblies were pep rallies and assemblies. One of the most outstanding of these was the one before the San Marino game on November 8.

Rams' Band

Under the direction of Ben Godfrey, we were fortunate to have another fine Rams' Band again this year. Besides playing for our school at athletic events and pep rallies, which helped a tremendous amount to boost our school spirit, they represented TCHS at other events as well.

The first outing was the County Fair. Next came the colorful Band Day, which was a mass performance at the UCLA-Washington football game in the Coliseum. Bands from numerous other high schools all over the county were present at this game.

An annual occasion anticipated eagerly, especially this year, was the All Western Band Review. Held in Long Beach, bands from all over Southern California participate in this event. Last year there was some discontent over the decision handed down to us by the judges; we barely missed first place because of a technical ruling. This year, however, no one complained. We took first place in our division.

The San Gabriel Valley Music Festival was another interesting event. Each band had to play three songs: one song picked for them, one from the festival list, and one of their own choice. They were then rated on how they played the three songs, and those receiving a superior rating competed at the Regional Festival.

Some other important events where the Rams' Band performed were as follows: The Christmas Parade on Las Tunas Boulevard, for the benefit of the local businessmen; The Temple City Camellia Parade, which has been enthusiastically received by Temple Citians every year; The Fourth Spring Band Show, in which concert bands from the San Gabriel Valley area participated; The National City Band Review, which was held near San Diego; The Music Festival at TCHS, which consisted of the orchestra, choir, and band. The Sousa Award was presented here for the most outstanding bandsmen.

Music for Dancing

Ben Godfrey
Band Leader

June saw the end of another successful year for our Dance Band. This group, known as the Temple City Tempos, was under the direction of Ben Godfrey.

The members of the Dance Band (there were 15) were picked out of the Concert Band. The requirements were precise and stiff: they had to be the best players of their instrument. They practiced faithfully for 45 minutes every morning before school. Since they were so active and had to keep up with all the new songs, their folders soon began bulging with more than 100 different arrangements.

The Tempos' first appearance was at our Halloween Dance. Then they really started rolling, playing at various high school dances throughout our area. They did not play for our school again until the second semester. When they did, they put on several performances in Temple City, including the PTA Variety Show and several times for the Temple City Job's Daughters.

Although playing for high school dances took up most of their time, they also participated in other events, including an exchange assembly with San Marino, which brought a tremendous reception from that school, and at a Dance Band assembly at our school. They played also in several local hospitals, which helped to boost the morale of the patients.

All in all, the Tempos were quite active and were a valuable asset to us in representing TCHS at other high schools.

and Listening

Under the capable direction of William Jacoby, the orchestra had a very successful year. It made its first appearance at the Christmas program, where the group did an outstanding job of performing. They played two numbers from "The King and I" and a medley of Christmas carols.

Events in which the 46 orchestra members participated during the spring were the Music Festival, Spring Concert, and Commencement.

In addition, the musicians took a tour of the elementary schools to demonstrate the instruments in the orchestra and explain each one of them.

Recently formed from orchestra members is the string ensemble, which plays chamber music, and a popular group, which plays modern music.

Male Quartet: T. Christensen, M. Vogel, D. Broz, J. Hill.

Under the direction of Roger Lockie, the Concert Choir made its debut at the Christmas Show on December 12. Other performances included singing for the high school PTA, the Easter assembly, and the Spring Music Festival. The senior members also sang for Commencement and Baccalaureate. Elected this year were Joyce Mitchell, president; Mel Vogel, vice-president; and Bonnie MacDonald, secretary. Librarians were Tisha Covello and Bill Whitley.

One of the most popular groups on campus, the Temple Belles had another successful fun-packer year, making their debut at the Masonic Temple in Monrovia. Some of their other appearances were at the San Marino exchange assembly, Thanksgiving assembly, numerous churches, women's clubs, fashion shows, and many school activities.

A newly-organized group at Temple City, the Men's Quartet have had a busy year. They appeared at Cloverly School and the Spring Music Festival, among other appearances.

The beginning choir, a training ground for the Concert Choir, with 29 voices, made its first appearance at the Easter assembly. They also appeared at the Spring Music Festival.

'Around the World in Dance'

Sue Peterson, Joan Little, and Deanna Matheny take the audience to the Far East during "Exotica."

Under the direction of Miss Martha Hall, adviser; Marilyn Marten, president; and 15 student directors, the Dance Club presented "Around the World in Dance," March 21-22, at the Oak Avenue Gym.

Through a series of interpretative dances done by the 96 members of the club, Tom Barron, Sharon Johnston, and Bev Houck were truly taken around the world. The dancers started from New York Harbor and from there visited many countries of the world including France, Russia, and those of Africa and the Orient.

The dancers worked from the beginning of the school year, perfecting their dances, making their costumes, and generally getting their production ready for its initial presentation at the dress rehearsal March 20.

'Amahl and the Night Visitors'

"Eh, what did she say—"

"I will get some wood for the fire."

"Stop! Thief!"

"Amahl and the Night Visitors" was presented at the Christmas assembly on December 12.

Amahl, a crippled boy of 12, played by Linda Farr, lived in poverty in a small hut with his mother, played by Marilee Magie. Revolving around them and the three kings, King Kasper (Don Broz); King Melchior (Gary Topjon); and King Balthazar (Jeff Hill), the story took place.

The Concert Choir presented the chorus work, and the orchestra provided Christmas music. Judy Peckham was solo pianist.

"This is all we shepherds can offer you."

"Come outside and let me show you."

Robert Browning: "You'll marry me if I have to carry you out of this house and up to the altar."

Edward: "I said just now that you are not the best judge of what is good or bad for you, my child."

Arabel: Oh, Uncle, you're a darling! You've called me bwight and open and affectionate, distwactingly lovely, and fwagwent, all within a few minutes. You may kiss me."

Edward: "What's this man to you? Answer me! Answer me!"

Curtain Call

Stage !'

Under the direction of Robert Kirtley, the Stage Dwellers presented "The Barretts of Wimpole Sreet" by Rudolf Besier on February 24-25-26 in the Oak Avenue Little Theatre.

This is the true love story of Miss Elizabeth Barrett Moulton-Barrett and Robert Browning, both of whom are famous as poets, each in his own right. Edward Moulton-Barrett is a tyrannical father who does not want his family to marry and desires to keep his daughters under his ruling hand. As Henrietta says, "You know father once owned slaves in Jamaica, and since slavery has been abolished there, he carries it on here in England."

Lois Mentze and Beverly Borger played the role of Elizabeth on alternate nights. This was felt necessary because Elizabeth is on stage during the entire evening except for the last three minutes. John Church as Robert Browning and Beverly Houck as Cousin Bella Hedley were very effective in their characterizations.

Included in the cast were: Doctor Chambers, Henry Velenosi; Elizabeth Barrett Moulton-Barrett (Ba), Beverly Borger and Lois Mentze; Wilson, Judith Hutcheson; Henrietta Moulton-Barrett, Peggy Hammond; Arabel Moulton-Barrett, Beverly Adams; Octavius Moulton-Barrett, Randolph Morris; Septimus Moulton-Barrett, Thomas Roper; Charles Moulton-Barrett, Donald Broz, Edward Moulton-Barrett, Arthur Leonard; Bella Hedley, Beverly Houck; Henry Bevan, Gary Heaton; Robert Browning, John Church; Doctor Ford-Waterlow, Randolph Morris; Captain Surtees Cook, Gary Heaton; Flush (Elizabeth's dog), Taffy Solsby.

Henrietta: "Captain Surtees Cook, Ba--my sister, Elizabeth."
Cook: "Your servant, Miss Barrett."

Alice Williams
Editor-in-Chief

More than half of the 1958 Rampage staff was new this year. Many of them had no experience in journalism. But under the efficient organization of our adviser, Mrs. Edith Ackerman, and the able leadership of our editor, Alice Williams, the yearbook staff worked diligently to put the 1958 Rampage together.

It took many pencils and erasers and much hard work to put the final copy together. But after drawing the dummy, taking pictures, writing copy, and meeting the deadlines, the final copy was turned out.

At the time when it seemed one couldn't draw another line or write another word, someone would come up with just the right words to ease the tension and help the work go just a little faster.

Gather News

A bi-weekly newspaper for Temple City High School had long been the dream of the Rampage staff. In November, 1957, the staff was granted the additional necessary funds, and permission was given by the Student Cabinet in order that this dream might become a reality in January, 1958.

Under the fine leadership of Susan Solsby, editor-in-chief, the staff published an issue of the Rampage twice a month.

An extra publication called for more ads, more stories, and more work in general, but the group did their various jobs efficiently. For the editors, they had twice as many pages to plan, headlines to write, stories to assign, copy to read, and deadlines to meet. Reporters were kept busy interviewing people, writing and rewriting copy, in order to get their assigned stories in on time. The business staff had to "bring in" double the amount of ads as before. All this was done to give the student body a more accurate and up-to-date record of school events as they happened.

The editorial staff was composed of Sue L'Hommedieu, front page; Elinore Pascoe, feature page; Janell Marr, activities; Barry Ballow, sports; and Jeff Hill, business manager. Mrs. Edith Ackerman was adviser, and the pictures for the paper were taken by William Gill of the Santa Anita Studio in Arcadia.

Intent on meeting the deadline for their first bi-weekly are the members of the Rampage newspaper staff.

Thespians Perform

The Stage Dwellers, sponsored by Robert Kirtley, had a busy and successful year.

In November the group presented "Four at Eight." The four plays presented were "Fumed Oak" by Noel Coward; "Sparkin' " by E. P. Conkle; "Marthe" by Noel Armstrong; and "A Case for Two Detectives," author unknown.

In December the group joined forces with the music department, under the direction of Roger Lockie, in the presentation of "Amahl and the Night Visitors" by Gian-Carlo Menotti. In February the Stage Dwellers presented "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" by Rudolph Beiser.

The May production had not been selected at the time we went to press.

The Stage Dwellers attended "The Doctor in Spite of Himself" by Moliere, which was presented by "The Players" at East Los Angeles Junior College.

In December the group traveled to Mt. San Antonio College to attend their production of "The Night of January 16" by Ayn Rand.

Trips to University of Southern California, Whittier College, Occidental College, and University of California at Los Angeles were planned also for the year.

Officers of the Stage Dwellers were: President, Peggy Hammond; Vice-President, Marilee Magie; Secretary, Linda Overlin; and Treasurer, Carolyn Crane.

Stepping Out

On September 20 "The Sharps" played for the annual back-to-school dance. As is traditional, the Student Cabinet sponsored this dance, which was called "Welcome Aboard."

The combined efforts of the Y-Teen clubs produced the "Masquerade Ball" on October 26. Temple's own dance band, the "Tempos," provided music for the gaily-costumed figures.

Scheduled for April 12 was the Rio Hondo League Dance. As host school for the league, TCHS had charge of this event.

The "Continentals" played smooth music for dancing at the Christmas Dance, December 17.

Informal cotton was the dress for the Hay Down-Hoe Down, held on November 16.

At the Hay Down-Hoe Down, sponsored by the Pep Commission, decorations included imitation barn animals of every kind and description.

Featured decoration at the Christmas Dance, "Winter Dreams," was a large white Christmas tree. Each couple brought a gift for a needy veteran family to be placed under this tree.

King Kip Roberti and Queen Ella Henderson start the dancing, following their crowning at "Cupid's Delight," February 15.

Looking down through red, white, and pink crepe paper, which decorated the Oak Avenue Gym on February 15, you saw many couples dancing to the music of the "Swing Kings."

Just for Fun

"Sure, you can skate," taunts a "master" to "his slave" during Bermuda Slave Day, February 14.

Among the outstanding activities this year were the Student-Faculty Basketball game, the Frosh-Soph Brawl, and many more.

Under the direction of the senior class, the Junior-Senior Review, March 7-8, brought out much of the best talent in the junior and senior classes. The review was basically patterned after the Steve Allen TV show.

Bermuda Slave Day, February 14, sponsored by the Girls' League, saw many "masters for a day" exerting various forms of "cruelty" on unsuspecting "slaves." Pink and white hearts denoted whether a girl was a slave for a day or for a particular period.

Hilarity reigned on February 5 when the junior class sponsored the Junior-Senior Donkey Basketball game. Pre-game warmups included musical chairs and a game of polo.

MC Dean Wood presents Karen Schneider, "Coming Attractions Girl," during the Junior-Senior Review, March 7-8.

Background music for the Junior-Senior Review was produced by the "Southland Seven," TCHS' Dixieland Band.

Jim Pirkle tries to keep his precarious seat during the Donkey Basketball game, February 5.

Jerry McClellan, member of the junior class, which sponsored the Donkey Basketball game, is forcibly thrown off his long-eared friend.

Main function of the CSF chapter at Temple City is service to the school. It was organized and chartered in 1955. The purpose of the organization is to stimulate good scholarship and school service.

Bill Smith and Frank Wetherill were the faculty advisers of the Temple City chapter this year. Approximately eight per cent of the student body were members. The requirements for CSF were at least ten points acquired at the end of the second quarter and with final grades. An A is worth three points, a B is worth one point, a C, 0 points, A D —1 point, and an F disqualifies one from CSF.

Seniors who were members of CSF were awarded many opportunities for scholarships in innumerable colleges and universities throughout the country.

Those who had been in CSF four times, once in their senior year, received gold seals on their diplomas.

Spanish Club

To give the students more contact with the Spanish language and customs through various activities was the purpose of the Spanish Club.

Members have been keeping their sponsor, Daryl Anderson, very busy with their activities. During the year they have heard speakers, seen Spanish movies, learned Spanish dances, and visited Spanish landmarks. One of the landmarks they visited was Olvera Street in Los Angeles.

Within the next two years it is hoped that an excursion to Mexico might be arranged. It is felt that such a trip would be very valuable, for it would not only give the group practice in using the language, but it would familiarize club members with the customs, traditions, and history of the Spanish people.

Engineers' Club

Under the sponsorship of Harold Onderdonk and Floyd Thaller the Engineers' Club was one of the most active clubs on campus this year. The club was established for the purpose of furthering interest in science and engineering.

Some of the interesting activities this year were a visit to the Bethlehem Steel Plant, and during Christmas vacation, a special excursion to Hoover Dam. Members toured also the C. F. Braun Company.

An observatory which is to be placed on the roof of the science building has been a pet project of the club.

Representing many varied interests, club members scheduled field trips and lectures to explore these more fully.

The Key Club has been one of the most active organizations on campus this year. Among some of the activities of Key Club members this year were the Youth Center breakfast, the Kiwanis luncheon, an indoor sports banquet, and the Camellia Festival, where they served wherever they were needed. Members have served Temple City High School and Temple City as a community whenever called upon.

These young men did not have all work and no play, however; they had a lot of fun. They had a party following a football game, a dinner, and a weekend in the mountains while the snow was still on the ground.

The Key Club membership feels that under Jerry Redman, president, and Denny Allen, secretary-treasurer, they have had one of their most constructive years at Temple City.

Scribes are Honored

The Quill and Scroll Society, an international honorary journalistic society, was formed to promote better journalistic writing in school publications.

To qualify as a member one had to be a junior or a senior, had to be in the upper third of his class scholastically, and had to have done outstanding work on one of the school's publications.

The chapter officers: President, John Collord; Vice-President, Elinore Pascoe; Secretary, Susan Solsby; and Treasurer, Alice Williams. The members initiated on March 24 were Linda Moore, Donna Singelyn, and Barry Ballow.

Quill and Scroll members who attended Journalism Day at USC, March 8, pose in front of "Tommy Trojan."

Barry Ballow leaves the USC Student Union on his way to the television center to investigate a career in public relations.

One of the newest clubs on campus this year was Junior Statesmen. The purpose of the group is to learn more about our government, how laws are made, and to discuss current political issues. In its election last fall, the following officers were elected: President, Gary Topjon; Vice-President, Jim Hager; Debate Chairman, Maureen Quinn; and Publicity Chairman, Barry Ballow. William Blomgren was the club adviser.

Some of the highlights of the past year were a speech made by Grant Thompson, Junior Statesmen governor of California, in November, and a speech by Congressman Pat Hillings, in February. The club also sent a representative and a legislator to the Regional Convention. This representative was Jim Hager.

Legislative sessions were held also during the school year. Legislative sessions were debates over current political problems. New laws were brought up also, and if they were worth while, they were passed for the school club. Sometimes they sent the laws to the Junior Statesmen headquarters, and if the law were passed by headquarters, it was sent on to the representatives and congressmen and then to the Junior Statesmen Congress and the House.

Five members of the Dance Club rehearse for the Dance Concert March 21-22.

TCHS Dance Club welcomed all girls this year who appreciate rhythm and who like free expression through dance.

The purpose of the group was to further members' interest in dance, music, and rhythms. It offered opportunities to participate in assemblies and production, as well as in leadership and cooperation.

In October, the Dance Club elected its officers for the year. They were: President, Marilyn Marten; Vice-President, Heather Irvine; Secretary, Sue Peterson; Treasurer, Connie Kirin; Historian, Sharon Upson.

Activities of the Dance Club are interesting and have been enjoyed by both student body and public.

Dance workshops, which were included in the GAA Play Day, gave the dance enthusiasts an opportunity to share the ideas and techniques of visiting schools. The Symposium, a highly interesting program, consisted of visiting schools and featured a well-known dance instructor.

Big production for the group this year was entitled "Around the World in Dance," in which the new idea of abstract settings was used.

Under the direction of Miss Martha Hall, Dance Club has become one of the most popular activities on campus.

Science Club

Science Club was formed to bring science students into closer contact with scientific personnel and problems.

The members planned several types of activities. Meetings were held once a month. They had field trips to many outstanding scientific laboratories. Science lectures, where Dr. E. A. Anderson always provided interesting speakers, were held. Dr. Carl D. Anderson was among these speakers and gave a lecture on "Cosmic Radiation."

Floyd Thaller and Darrell Linthacum, advisers; Steve Fenner, president; Lynn Irwin, vice-president; and Martin Stoner, secretary, feel that this group was successful in working toward the advancement of science.

Jr. Red Cross

Junior Red Cross is a service club dedicated to having fun and completing worthwhile projects for Temple City High.

It is composed of a council of freshmen and sophomores. This enthusiastic group decided on projects under the leadership of Jeanine Funk and Brian Fox.

Even though it is a newly-organized club, members have succeeded in many projects. They collected toys at a Christmas Dance and had conferences with Junior Red Cross clubs in neighboring schools.

They had a successful year and are looking forward to an even more productive '58 and '59.

Eleventh-grade Sophisticates were led through a year of activities by Barbara Jones, president, and their adviser, Miss Yvonne Caruthers.

The year began with the masquerade Halloween Dance in October, which they helped to sponsor. The group enjoyed also a potluck dinner and helped the junior class by serving at the taco feed.

At the annual World Fellowship Service, in which they participated, they saw the more serious side of Y-Teens.

Capris, under the supervision of Miss Martha Hall, had a very busy year.

The group went roller skating, ice skating, bowling, and enjoyed a slumber party.

As a Christmas project, the Capris had an Odd Job Day in order to earn money to buy food for a needy family.

Campus Debs have been a very active group this year. Their activities have included miniature golfing, roller skating, Christmas caroling, a snow trip, a come-as-you-are breakfast, a beach party, and a trip to Chinatown. As guest speakers, they had Sally Shaw, '57 Rose Tournament Princess, and a hair stylist.

The group made slippers for patients in the General Hospital as a service project.

Hey Green!

Promoting Temple City spirit through song this year were six new song leaders.

During the latter part of their junior year and all through the summer, they worked perfecting 25 new routines. They made up a new routine for virtually every school song and some yells.

Along with Bonnie MacDonald, head song girl, the girls chose as their uniform yellow corduroy knee-length outfits with short sleeves and Peter Pan collars. Around the bottom was green monogramming that included the word, "Rams," and song notes. White bucks and green socks completed these colorful outfits.

Chosen in May last year were this year's five enthusiastic yell leaders.

Along with the song leaders they performed at noon pep rallies, pep assemblies, and football and basketball games.

These yell leaders in their yellow sweaters and matching pleated skirts carried the school banner in all parades.

The yell leaders worked during the summer making up and perfecting many new and varied routines.

One of the outstanding pep assemblies in which they appeared was the one before the San Marino football game on November 8.

Everyone did another pep groups' routine. The yell leaders performed as majorettes — a sight to behold!

Three sophomore girls were chosen as JV yell leaders for this year. These girls made up many new yells and many new routines to old yells.

The JV's were responsible for yells at Bee football games and Bee, Cee, and Dee basketball games.

Pleated green plaid Bermuda-length skirts with white V-necked sweaters and white blouses made up their uniforms. Ivy League black and white saddles and green socks completed their outfits.

To satirize San Marino, TC's greatest rival, the JV's performed at the San Marino pep assembly on November 8, in baggy sweat shirts and jeans.

Mint green princess style uniforms with mandarin collars and lined with mint green satin were the uniforms designed by the Drill Team. The uniforms, boots, and headbands were trimmed with dark green sequins. Consisting of 46 girls whose purpose was to promote spirit throughout the past school year, the team was under the leadership of two co-captains, Darlene Novak and Caryol Degn.

New uniforms were chosen by the flag girls also. This group was seen at various events throughout the year wearing green velveteen uniforms and twirling gold satin flags. On the front of the uniform were two flags made of gold sequins. White boots and yellow V-neck sweaters completed the outfit.

Both the Drill Team and the flag girls participated in the Arcadia, Temple City, and National City parades.

Her Majesty the Queen

One afternoon last fall the varsity football team held an important meeting. This meeting wasn't just a regular one; it was for the purpose of picking three girls to be the candidates for Football Queen. The team chose Sharon Thomas, Mary Beth Ward, and Shereen O'Toole. Two weeks later the student body voted for the girl of their choice. The Queen elected for 1958 was Shereen O'Toole; her princesses were Sharon Thomas and Mary Beth Ward.

Coronation was held at an assembly on October 25. Shereen and her court were then honored at our first league game with Bell Gardens.

Queen Shereen was born in Pasadena on August 13, 1940. She came to Temple City as a junior after attending Mission and St. Andrews High Schools.

It was her duty this year to attend all sports activities and promote the spirit of the school.

About her reign, Shereen commented: "Thanks to the whole student body, who made this all possible, and especially to the varsity football team. It has really been wonderful, and I'll never forget my senior year because this has made it so complete."

Jerry Redman, varsity football most valuable player, shows Football Queen Shereen O'Toole how touchdown passes are made.

How successful the varsity season was this year is really a matter of opinion.

If a person were looking only at the win, loss, and tie record, the season would look rather unsuccessful, but if this person were to look through the eyes of a Temple City High student, he would see it as the greatest season Temple City ever had, made so by the repaying of an old debt.

The season started with the Rams receiving a rather stinging defeat at the hands of Lennox High.

The next game the Rams showed a little more spark but were still bested by a fast Chino team.

At this point in the season, an epidemic of flu began hitting many schools in the Southland and two games, one with Baldwin Park and one with La Habra, consequently had to be canceled.

The Rams were credited with their first win of the season when they bowled over the Highlanders of Upland, 12-7, in a game played at Chaffey Field.

Following this win, a siege of bad luck overtook the squad, and it dropped two straight to Bell Gardens and Artesia by rather embarrassingly high scores.

Temple City's next game was with its particularly strong rivals, San Marino. The Rams were made as much as 40-point underdogs by local sportswriters before the game. These same writers were chewing on their words before the game was over.

The varsity line was like a stone wall during the whole game, and the whole team showed a spark which, if it had been used during the rest of the season, would have undoubtedly taken the team on to better things.

The Rams completely outplayed and outclassed the Titans and narrowly missed outscoring them. The San Marino team was able to start a scoring drive late in the fourth quarter, and the game ended in a tie.

The last game of the season resulted in the Rams taking a bitter defeat at the hands of the South Pasadena Tigers.

Team Captain Jerry Redman was elected most valuable player by his teammates, and Denny Allen and Larry Bateman were chosen as next year's co-captains.

Guided by Coach Grant Gaunce, the Ram Bee football team completed a terrific season, winning six, and losing only one.

The Bees began this sparkling season by knocking off their first three opponents by margins of six touchdowns or more. As the season progressed, however, the opponents became rougher, and the Rams had to knuckle down. In early November the Bees found themselves tied with San Marino for first place in the league.

When the showdown game came, the Rams saw their hopes of winning the championship fly out the window, as their counterparts from San Marino won the game with a 19-0 score.

The Bees finished the season by tromping the South Pasadena Bees 19-7.

On the Hardwood

Temple City's varsity basketball squad turned in a fair four-win, six-loss record this year and wound up in the fourth-place slot of Rio Hondo League standings, which was a tremendous improvement over last year's showing.

In the first game of Rio Hondo League play, Artesia High came out of its game with Temple City on the high end of a 52-49 score. This game ended as a real heartbreaker, for the Rams led the whole way, and then in the last seconds of play they lost the lead and, consequently, the ball game.

The outcome of the varsity's next game was probably one of the biggest morale boosters our school had during the year. The Rams met and soundly trounced the Titans of San Marino in a game that kept every Temple Citian in the gym on the edge of his seat for four quarters.

The Lancers of Bell Gardens were the next team to meet the Rams, and this outfit, which later went on to the CIF play-offs, had a field day in this contest, snowing the Rams under with a 51-point scoring barrage.

Still reeling from the Bell Gardens game, the Rams fell victim to the South Pasadena Tigers in their next game, 43-31. Norwalk High was the school that broke the Rams' losing streak, as they were tromped by Temple City, 51-17.

As the Rams started the second round of league play, they ran into some more bad luck, losing three straight contests to Artesia, San Marino, and Bell Gardens.

They broke out of this bad-luck streak, however, in their next game, as they took a close one from South Pasadena, 43-41. The Rams finished out their season with a lopsided win over the luckless Lancers of Norwalk.

Chosen by his teammates as the captain of this year's squad was Kip Roberti, who played left forward most of the season. Denny Gallagher, consistent high-point man for the team, was chosen as most valuable player of the year, while Phil Brown was named most improved player.

Honored also was Terry Christensen who, with Denny Gallagher, was named to the All-Rio Hondo League first team. Chuck Day of the Rams received honorable mention on the All-League squad.

Bee Basketball

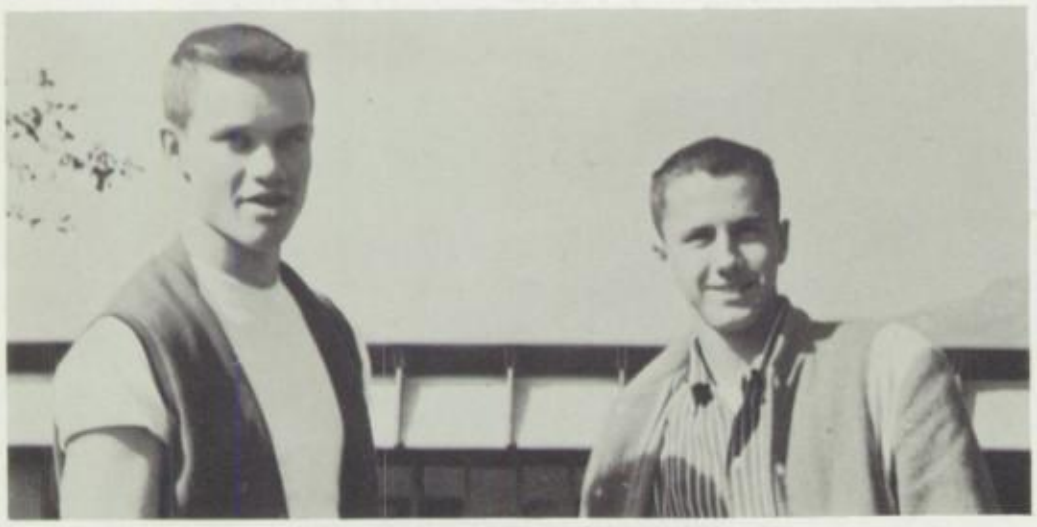
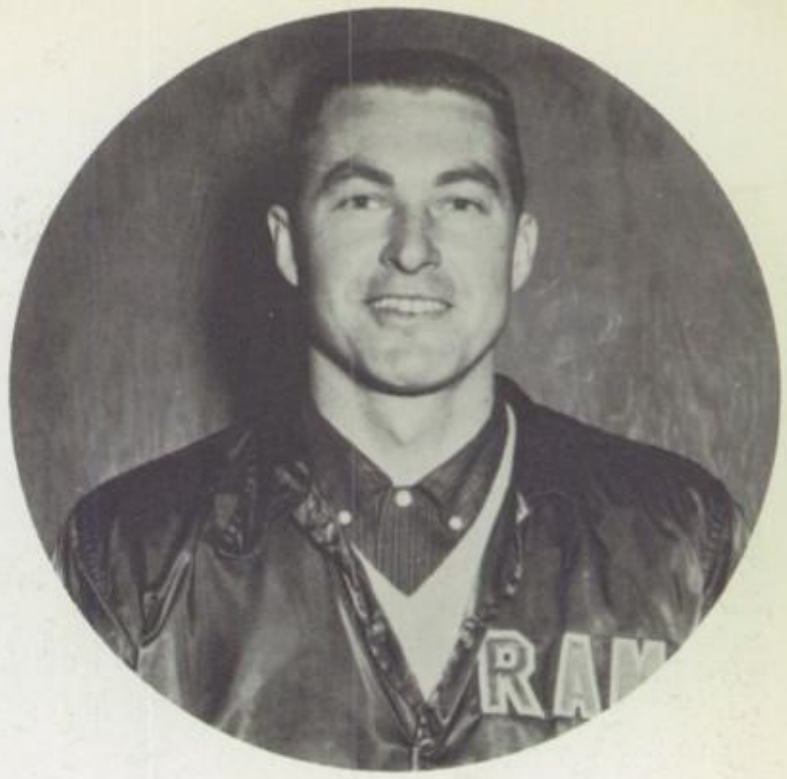
Most Valuable Player, John Bibler; Captain, Gary Rhoades.



Paul Peterson, Bee basketball coach



The Ram Bee basketball team wound up its season with a five-win, five-loss Rio Hondo League record.

This team, like the varsity, started from scratch, as it had only two returning members of the previous year's team and, therefore, was comprised chiefly of players recruited from the Cee squad.

Paul Peterson took on the coaching duties for this team for the first time and, at the first part of the season, it looked as though he might have a championship team. The breaks, however, were just not with the Bees in the second round of league play and, consequently, they were shoved from first in the standings to fourth.

The Bees started their season with a decisive win over Pasadena Academy with a 40-27 score. The next week they did not fare so well, losing to the Knights of Arroyo, 50-42.

They more than made up for this loss in their next game by smashing the West Covina team 51-35.

In the rest of their practice games they met such teams as Colton, San Gabriel, La Salle, and Chino, coming out of this non-league period with about a 50-50 average.

The Ram Bees began league play with their first game against Artesia. They easily smashed their Pioneer counterparts, 69-45.

Showing more hustle with each game, the Bees topped the Titans of San Marino and the Bell Gardens Lancers, 52-47, and 44-33, respectively.

The game with South Pasadena seemed to be the turning point for the team for, after losing this game, it was unable to defeat any of the teams it had already met in the second round. The Rams did beat Norwalk, however, in both rounds of play.

In the second round the Rams met defeat at the hands of Artesia, San Marino, Bell Gardens, and South Pasadena.

Chosen as this year's captain was Gary Rhoades, while John Bibler was elected most valuable player.

Gary Rhoades (14) shoots for two points against San Marino.

Gary Walfield (13) shoots for two points while Gary Ball and Ronnie Adamson watch.

Cee Basketball

Competing for the Rio Hondo League title until the last game of the season, the Temple City Cee basketballers lost this contest in a double overtime to Bell Gardens. This resulted in a three-way tie for second place in the league. Outstanding player for the Cees was Bob Reseigne, who gained the honor of being voted the most valuable player by his teammates. Elected captain was Jim Petralia.

The Cees were coached by Bob Hitchcock, who believes that our Cee basketball team represented Temple City High School well in the Rio Hondo League this year.

Big man for the team was Steve Judy. Steve was voted most valuable player by his teammates and proved his ability by averaging 12 points per game. Voted captain of the Dee team was Steve Walker.

Mr. Hitchcock said he enjoyed very much coaching the Dee team and hoped team members had learned enough to spearhead future varsity teams. Through participation on the Dee team, training and valuable experience are gained by players for use on varsity teams later.

Varsity Spikemen

At our deadline time we could not determine the full potentialities of the varsity track team as it was still in the process of shaping up.

In its meet against Ramona and Corona on March 4, the varsity did not fare too well, taking only third. The most outstanding single performance for Temple City in this meet was accomplished by Kip Roberti, who took first place in the high jump with a leap of 5 ft. 10 in.

Individually the Rams did much better in their next meet, which was against Claremont and Webb. Horst Rick set a new record for the varsity as he ran the mile in 4:51.

Leroy Morkre received first-place honors in the varsity shot put with a "put" of 46 ft. 6 in. Also adding to the Ram tally was Kip Roberti who, for the second meet in a row, took first in the varsity high jump.

It was Horst Rick again who brought home a first in the varsity mile in the meet with Muir and Covina. Despite valiant efforts by the Rams at the end of the competition, they found themselves again at the bottom of the heap.

On March 8, a few members of the Temple City varsity traveled to Huntington Beach to compete in the annual relays held there. Only one Ram trackster was able to place, and that was Bill Wells, who took third place in the pole vault.

The varsity's meet with San Marino on March 13 (also the annual deadline) had to be postponed, as several others were, because of rain.

Despite early setbacks, Coach Grant Gaunce felt the varsity still had a very good chance in league competition.

Bee track man completes a high jump in track competition.

The Bee cindermen took off with a roaring start for the season and, at deadline time, had shaped into one of the biggest potential threats to the Rio Hondo League Bee track title.

Coached by Grant Gaunce, these tracksters bested teams from Ramona High, Corona High, Claremont High, and Webb High.

A few of the track meets early in the season were rained out, and many times rain caused the meets to go on under very adverse conditions, as was the case in the tri-meet with Ramona and Corona and the meet with San Marino, which had to be called off.

During the latter part of the season the Bees met such powers as Arroyo, Bell Gardens, South Pasadena, and others. They participated also in the Lancer Relays and the Arroyo Invitational Meet.

The Bees seemed to be the powerhouse team this year, with such outstanding members as John Bibler, who set a new record of 13.9 in the 120-yard low hurdles at the Claremont-Webb meet; Rick Gaylord, who took first in the broad jump at both the Claremont-Webb meet and the Corona-Ramona meet; Lynn Irwin, who turned in two wins in the 70-yard high hurdles, at both the Claremont-Webb meet and the Ramona-Corona meet; and Phil Morris, who took first in the 100-yard dash at both these meets.

The Ram 660-relay team also copped two firsts and proved itself to be a top contender for honors.

Cee Track

Coached by Grant Gaunce, the Cee cindermen opened their season by participating in a tri-meet with Muir and Covina. They did not fare too well in this competition, placing third.

The Rams did quite a bit better in the next meet with Ramona and Corona, taking first in the 440-yard relay and several seconds in other events, and finally winding up in second-place slot at the end of the meet.

On March 10, the Cee tracksters competed in another tri-meet, this time with Claremont and Webb. Again they took second place, trailing Claremont by two points. In this meet, Dick Mann and Mel Caho placed first and second in the Cee 660, and Craig Chapman took first in the 180-yard dash, with Dick Mann coming in right behind him.

At deadline, the Cees had only competed in these first few meets and still had meets scheduled with schools such as San Marino, South Pasadena, Baldwin Park, Bell Gardens, Norwalk, and Artesia, as well as the league finals, which were held on our own track May 2.

Swimming Teams

As we went to press, the teams were progressing quite steadily, with the varsity and Bees in second place in league standings and the Cees being undefeated.

Led by Speedster Steve Fenner, who set a new all-league record for the 50-yard free style at Bell Gardens, the varsity took wins over Bell Gardens, Rosemead, and South Pasadena.

This is the second year Temple City has had swim teams, and this year's squads were coached by Ed Mohr.

The Bee finmen made their best showings against South Pasadena, whom they defeated 60-7; Azusa, whom they downed 39-29; and Rosemead, whom they defeated 49-16. Barry Davis, Mike Souther, Emory Mulsion, and a few others were the Bees who seemed to be doing the most outstanding jobs for their team.

The Cee swimmers were not able to participate in as many meets as were the other teams because not every school has a swim team with that division. Consequently, the Cees had only taken part in three meets when we went to press.

Even with a shortened schedule the Cees turned in a terrific job in every meet, taking one from Bell Gardens, 33-26; one from Rosemead, 31-26; and one from San Marino, 35-22.

At deadline time, the swim teams still had meets with Bell Gardens, San Marino, and South Pasadena yet to go. On April 21, the All-League meet was held at San Marino.

The new heated swimming pool, one of the finest in the vicinity, provided opportunities for the development of both boys' and girls' swimming and diving teams.

Diving Team

Diving Team: R. Kidwell, H. Heed, D. Gastineau.

Competing against such schools as Azusa, San Marino, and Rosemead in the varsity diving division was Dick Gastineau. Dick picked up enough points in the Rosemead and South Pasadena meets to swamp completely his opponents and easily took first-place honors.

There are two divers in the Bee division, Harmon Heed and Dick Kidwell. Both these boys did especially good jobs, particularly in the meet against South Pasadena on March 12.

Another encouraging fact was that all of these divers will be back next year, as they are either sophomores or juniors.

At deadline this squad had met divers from Azusa, San Marino, South Pasadena, Rosemead, and Bell Gardens, with Bell Gardens, San Marino, and South Pasadena yet to come. This team also participated in the All-League meet held at San Marino in April.

Tennis Teams

Guided by Hilbert Holoubek, both the varsity and junior varsity tennis teams started the season with a loss to the Apache racketmen of Arcadia.
The next game was like a shot in the arm to both teams, as the varsity tied its Brave counterpart, 4-4.

Meeting Arcadia again on March 7, both teams were handed a shellacking, as the varsity was downed 9-0, and the junior varsity was trounced 8-1. The last meet for the Rams before deadline time was the match with the El Monte Lions. The varsity netmen did much better, turning in a tie of 4½-4½. The varsity's biggest power was its first singles man, Dave Crosson. Dave, in addition to turning in a very good performance in all the matches, took third place in the very competitive Alhambra singles tournament.

At deadline time, both the varsity and junior varsity had many more games to play with teams such as Rosemead, Citrus, San Gabriel, Monrovia and El Monte. League play for the racket team started April 11, as the Rams met the Bell Gardens Lancers at Bell Gardens.

On the Diamond

At the annual deadline our varsity baseball team was shaping up to be one of the strongest in the Rio Hondo League. The team at that time had a record of five wins and two losses.

The Rams started off their practice schedule with a win over Baldwin Park. They also beat Arcadia twice, San Gabriel once, and El Monte once. Other teams that were to be played later in practice games were Citrus, Rosemead, and Monrovia.

The Titans of San Marino and the Lancers of Bell Gardens were expected to provide the most competition for the Rams in the race for the league crown.

Coached by Paul Peterson, the team was made up of many veteran players, many of whom are

Bee

The junior varsity baseball team started this season, as many teams did, with a lot of new additions—new players, a new coach, and finally a new name.

The Ramblers, as they are now called, plunged into their practice season showing plenty of spark and hustling. Under the guidance of its coach, Bill Davis, the team started the season by smashing Baldwin Park, 15-2.

With a win under their belts, they tackled their counterparts from Arroyo next, downing the Knights 3-1.

Arcadia became the next victim on the schedule, losing to the Temple Citians, 18-2. Extending their winning streak even further, the Ramblers trounced San Gabriel, 9-1.

Baldwin Park found itself once more on the short end of the score, as the rampaging Ramblers rolled over its team 6-5.

The next game was loaded with bad breaks for the JV's, and they were edged out by the Apaches of Arcadia, 5-6.

They made up for this loss, however, in their last game before our deadline by dumping the El Monte Lions, 3-1, on the losers' diamond.

At deadline time some players who had done outstanding jobs in the first practice games included Phil Andrist, pitcher; Dick Reseigne, first baseman; and Jim Cole, catcher.

Frosh Baseball

A brand new baseball squad was added to the list of teams this year: the frosh baseball squad coached by Roger Lockie.

At deadline time, this team was rapidly shaping up into quite a powerful squad, considering the size of its members, and it should offer quite a threat to the league crown.

Weather-wise, this team seemed to have nothing but bad luck, having three of its early practice games with Arcadia and San Gabriel rained out and having to play several games on a wet diamond.

Baldwin Park was the first team to be downed by the frosh, and the Temple Citians did a fine job of it, defeating the Braves 12-3.

With the next two games rained out, the frosh found themselves facing the Baldwin Park Braves again. This time the contest was a little more even and, contrary to all rules of baseball, the game ended in a 6-6 tie.

The next game with Arcadia was rained out. Then the frosh met their counterparts from Duarte on the Temple City diamond, with the game ending rather unhappily for the Rams, as they found themselves on the short end of an 8-2 score. Two Duarte sluggers made home-runs and helped to raise their team's tally.

The frosh had an excellent pitching staff this year, comprised of Brian Beveridge, Jim Petralia, Steve Judy, and Jack Morgan, all of whom were hopeful of victory as teams such as Rosemead, Citrus, Duarte, San Gabriel, El Monte, Norwalk, Artesia, and Fontana loomed ahead on the Ram schedule.

Teammates congratulate Dave Strack after he hits home run against Arcadia.

. . . On the Field

With a splash in the pool, a crack of the bat, the twang of an arrow, and a heel and toe, Temple City's first Play Day began. The theme, "Turkey Round-Up," was carried out by using autumn leaves, turkey cut-outs, pilgrim hats, and pumpkins as name tags. Girls from Mark Keppel, Burroughs, South Pasadena, and Glendale joined Temple City in an afternoon of fun.

Something new was added when, under the direction of Miss Martha Hall, a dance workshop was used. Girls from each school were put in different groups. The groups made up dances, and the best one was presented to everyone after the tournaments. Other sports in which the girls participated were basketball, softball, swimming, and archery.

In January GAA went up to Mt. Waterman for a day in the snow. Along with GAA adviser, Mrs. Mariam Stein, all G A A members had a wonderful time.

With the beginning of third quarter GAA began softball. This proved to be the most popular girls' sport of the year. Teams and captains were elected, and a round-robin tournament was held.

In June GAA went on a beach party to Huntington Beach. This was the last GAA activity of the year.

. . . In the Water

"Adventures of Peter Pan" was the First Annual Swim Show held on May 23-24. The participants included a majority of all girls' physical education swim classes. Main characters from Walt Disney's Peter Pan were portrayed in the story. Actors and dancers assisted the swimmers in carrying out the theme and narration. The advanced swim class and its student director, Frances Maxey, planned and organized the production under the supervision of their advisers, Mrs. Mariam Stein, Miss Margee Mohr, and Miss Martha Hall.

This was the first year of swimming competition for the girls' swim program. Interested girls were encouraged to try out, and the team was selected from those participants who practiced and had the best time in different events.

Events for the meets included: 100-foot crawl, 100-foot breast, 100-foot backstroke, 100-foot butterfly, four-man-free-style relay, three-man-medley relay.

Schools against which the swim team competed this year were: Rosemead, Burbank, La Puente, Excelsior, Montebello, and Fullerton.

. . . On the Courts

To the sound of bouncing basketballs, Temple City High School girls were introduced to the courts in the fall by an afternoon of fun and recreation. On October 7, basketball officially began with the election of captains and choosing of teams. Under the leadership of Miss Margee Mohr, the girls learned leadership, sportsmanship, and new basketball techniques.

In an attempt to use these techniques the senior girls challenged the faculty women in a basketball game. The faculty women met this challenge and, to the surprise of all, came out on top of a 17-16 score. The teachers added a note of humor when they paraded on the court in their 1920 bathing suits.

The second quarter found GAA gathering at the Temple City Bowling Alley every Thursday. This proved to be one of the most successful sports GAA has ever had. Many of the girls had never been bowling, and the enthusiasm touched even the advisers. Before the end of the year, even the most inexperienced bowler had broken one hundred. Enthusiasm for this sport forced GAA to form a bowling league.

The vice-presidency of the Girls' Athletic Federation of Southern California was Temple City's honor this year, and it held the first business meeting here. Those schools attending were Newhall, El Rancho, Mira Costa, Whittier, Redondo, and Beverly Hills.

The year was climaxed with the Awards Banquet in the latter part of May. New officers were installed, and all the girls received their emblems, letters, or pins, depending on their points. The banquet was concluded by the bestowing of the highest honor GAA can give, that of most valuable GAA girl.

Here is a team of senior girls playing the women faculty members. Wendy Triay and Miss Marty Hall jump for the toss.

Our Thanks

TO - - - Santa Anita Studio. What's an annual without pictures? Not much you'll have to admit. Just great blobs of copy that mean nothing.

So our thanks go to Mr. Gill at the Santa Anita Studio who, with his untiring patience and skill, gave us such good pictorial coverage.

TO - - - our advertisers and student body card holders. Our book this year has grown to a larger size, and we have added 16 more pages. These additions were made in the hope that the Rampage staff could more effectively picture the year's events.

A special vote of thanks to our advertisers, who helped us to meet our increased advertising budget.

Without the continued support of the student body, the Rampage would no longer be.

TO - - - the Yearbook House and Smith Crafted Cover Company. We have all the pictures and the means of producing an annual but where to get it published?

Because of their terrific assistance and continuing good service we renewed our contract with the Yearbook House in Monrovia. Mr. Hubbell and his staff on Maple Avenue have given us innumerable technical words of advice on layout design, type choice, and position of heads.

Now that the book was printed, we needed a cover. The Smith Crafted Cover Company filled our needs and met our requirements as to cover design.

It's funny how you gain the impression that, after three years' work on an annual, one of them as assistant editor, you sort of know all about what's coming off. Notice, I said, "sort of." Being editor of the 'Ragpage,' as it was referred to by some of my newspaper cohorts, surely changed all those illusions, but fast.

I remember the first year we had an annual in 1955. In fact, I remember clearly all 80 pages of it. Being neophytes in the annual game, we thought our Rampage was the rarest among jewels.

In 1956, I was still plugging away as activities editor. Our Rampage jumped to 144 pages. This year we also included that little item referred to as "copy."

1957 saw Diana Breneiser serving her second term as editor. We greeted a new adviser this year and enlarged on the amount of our "copy," that little beast known to keep editors and their assistants burning the midnight oil.

1957-1958 saw yours truly stepping into last year's editor's shoes. It was a little cramped in there, in her size 4's, with me wearing — well, on to another subject. Like the fabulous cooperation that our staff has given Mrs. Ackerman and me this year. Having only two returning staff members out of 10 or so (I never did get time to count 'em all), sort of startled me, to say the least.

The first of many thank-yous goes to Mrs. Edith Ackerman, the Rampage adviser. Through thick and thin she put up with us. Thanks especially for her efficient organization and patience. Without them we might still be putting out our "book."

Thanks next to the entire staff — John Collord, assistant editor; Linda Moore, sports editor; Sue Skillern, activities editor; and Paul Showalter, art editor. And to all those who weren't editors, but who really worked their hardest just the same.

Although most of my editors were new to yearbook production, this didn't impair the willingness and efficiency that they put into every job, large or small

Thanks, also, to the long-suffering faculty. Their patience and understanding through all the noise and confusion of picture-taking were appreciated more than they know.

Now that all the thank-yous are over, I guess it's time to say farewell to the Rampage and to Temple.

"That picture is 3⅓x4," says Alice Williams, editor-in-chief, during one of the many days of picture-taking in order to complete the annual.

Penny-

It has been nice knowing you this year and in the past. It was a lot of work trying to get you straightened out, but I think it was worth it. It has been a rather confusing year I know but I think it helped. I wish you all the luck in the world. Best of luck between you and Vern. I hope to see you real often after we graduate. If you ever need any more advice you know where to find it. I'll always be around with plenty. I hope you won't need it much longer. It does become a little tiring trying to keep a head of the game even though it is fun to hear your troubles. Well I guess that is all for know. so I will close. I hope to see you very often.

Your friend Always
